BBS JAPAN ANNOUNCES TECHNICAL PARTNERSHIP WITH SCUDERIA FERRARI HP

BBS Japan, a leading manufacturer of forged performance wheels, is pleased to announce a new multi-year Technical Partnership with Scuderia Ferrari HP. Under this agreement, BBS Japan will serve as the exclusive supplier of forged magnesium racing wheels for Scuderia Ferrari HP's Formula One team starting from 2026.

The technological relationship between BBS and Ferrari dates back to 1992, when BBS first developed and supplied forged magnesium racing wheels for Scuderia Ferrari – making a historic milestone in Formula One. During the first partnership, the team achieved outstanding success, securing eight Constructors' Championships and six Drivers' Championships. This included five consecutive Drivers' Championships won by Michael Schumacher from 2000 to 2004,.

Takayuki Nitta, President of BBS Japan, commented: "We are truly honored to enter into this new Technical Partnership with Scuderia Ferrari HP. Our relationship dates back more than three decades, and it is deeply meaningful to once again stand alongside Scuderia Ferrari at the highest level of competition. Ferrari's unwavering passion, competitive spirit, and relentless pursuit of excellence perfectly reflect the values that define BBS. We are proud to contribute to Ferrari with our forged wheel technology and craftsmanship as the team embarks on the next chapter of its remarkable history."

As a Technical Partner, BBS Japan will continue to collaborate closely with Scuderia Ferrari HP on the development of magnesium forged wheels, providing advanced wheel design expertise, state-of-the-art forging technologies and rigorous quality-control systems.
